Who Are We?

Family Leaders: Parents/Caregivers of children, youth, and young adults with special health care needs using their lived experience expertise in caring for their children, to advocate for other families like theirs in paid or volunteer positions.

Self-Advocates: Youth and Young Adults with special health care needs who advocate for themselves and others.

Champions: Professionals who encourage, advocate and support family-professional partnerships in the workplace.

Emerging Professionals: The next generation of professionals who support CYSHCN and family-professional partnerships and will carry on the work.
